THE JOB FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Adjourn Everything But Politics For Next Tuesday's Primaries. Contest of Local Interest.

For a condition in politics which is supposed to be adjourned, it looks as if next Tuesday's primary would be a pretty lively one. The local issue involves the attitude of Andover in connection with contests for Lieutenant Governor, Republican nominees for the Governor's Council, district attorney, State Senate, State representative, and the Democratic nomination for Governor.

The issue on the Lieutenant Governor contest between Speaker Channing Cox and Honorable Guy A. Ham, a former member of the Governor's Council, appears to have been rather foolishly drawn by Mr. Ham in connection with the possible attitude of Mr. Cox on recess committees and the relation of Mr. Cox to certain long-time personal friends. We are inclined to think that the Speaker has most effectively answered the charge that he is a servant of particular political factors by calling attention to a record of service of high order in which he has shown himself to be fearless, independent, and capable.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CAMPAIGN

Our Record in War Savings Stamps First in District, Third in State.

Every odd job which was performed after school, every five-cent piece that was not put into candy or soda, every time a movie show was resisted and the Andover public school campaign was brought nearer the top. And a fine large number of these were purchased, for the Andover public schools, nine in number, hold the lead in our district for the sale of War Savings Stamps per capita, up to the end of the school year last June. This is an excellent record, as our district includes Lawrence with 11,829 pupils, Methuen with 2417, and North Andover with 1117, as compared with Andover's 955 pupils.

The statistics of the Massachusetts Public Schools, received by Frederic G.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

William L. Frye, the night officer, has returned to work after an enjoyable vacation.

Mrs. George R. Caldwell of Washington avenue has moved to Westford for the winter.

Miss Agnes Grant of Chestnut street will return to Smith College as a junior next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels of Manchester are visiting at the home of Frank Maguire of Highland road.

There will be a meeting of the children of the primary department of the Free church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Miss Emily Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Thompson, will leave Monday for Dobbs Ferry on the Hudson.

Miss Margaret French of School street returned Tuesday from the Hawthorne Inn in Gloucester, where she has been visiting for several weeks.

Miss Dorothy Cole left Monday for Troy, N. Y., where she is entered at Russell Sage College. She will specialize in art with the view of receiving a B.S. degree in that subject.

Norman Harris, who recently enlisted with the merchant marine, has been sent home for a few days to recover from an attack of Spanish influenza which was very prevalent in the training camp at Norfolk.

Mrs. C. J. Francis and family have returned to their home on Bartlett street after a trip to Baltimore and Washington. At Baltimore they visited Miss Edna Francis who is a physical director in a private school there.

The primary teachers of the Free church held their first meeting Monday night, September 16, at the home of Miss Allen. The dates for the following meetings are October 1, 5, 29, November 11, 25, and December 9 and 23.

Mr. Joseph Emile Daudelin, former pupil of the famous Paris Conservatoire, offers for the coming season exceptional opportunities to violin students both elementary and advanced, at the Briggs Allen School Saturdays, other days at Steinert Hall, Boston.

St. Matthew's lodge, A.F. and A.M., held a regular monthly communication in Masonic hall Monday evening. Routine business was transacted. There are twelve members of the lodge in active service at the present time and two more have been called to report next Tuesday.

Joseph McNally, Roy W. Bowman and William Cronin, who finished at Villanova College where they will take the special Students' Army Training Course. McNally and Bowman were graduated last year but Cronin had passed his examinations for Phillips Academy when they decided to make this army work their future. They will leave Sunday morning.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Dominick Dowd of Summer street has entered his name as a freshman at Boston College in the Students Army Training Corps.

John Kelley, agent of the office of the American Railway Express Co., has returned to his duties after an annual two weeks' vacation.

Prof. and Mrs. Robert P. Keep of Farmington, Conn., have been the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Charles H. Forbes of Highland road.

Chief of Police Frank M. Smith, who has been ill at his home on High street for several days this week, returned to his duties yesterday.

Edwin L. Baker, a former instructor at Phillips Academy, who is now at Oberlin College, spent the week-end with friends in town.

At the annual meeting of the North Andover Country Club last Saturday, Dr. Alfred E. Stearns was made an honorary member of the club.

Miss Dorothy Cutler of Abbot street has begun a course at Bryant and Stratton's Business School. She will live at the Stuart Club in Boston.

Donald K. Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Cameron of Salem street, left Wednesday for Princeton College where he is entered as a freshman.

W. H. Welch & Co. have the contract for the plumbing and heating to be done in connection with government activities being carried on in Boston at Boston University.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Andover Club last Saturday a nominating committee was appointed to prepare a list of officers for the coming year. They are to report at the annual meeting in October and are as follows: Chairman, Samuel P. Hulme; Walter H. Thompson and W. Dudley Yates.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dugan of Highland road received a cablegram from their son, Private Peter Dugan, that he is safe in France. He was on the Mount Vernon, the U. S. transport that had been, previous to its sailing, at the Charlestown navy yard undergoing repairs, and was torpedoed by a U-boat off the coast of France.

The candidates who came out for football practice at Pynchard High School numbered fifteen men. Games have been arranged with Lawrence High School, September 21, at O'Sullivan park, and with Fiskerton Academy and Marblehead High School. Coach Lovely and Captain Daley think they have some very good material this year.

Miss Dorothy Bushnell, who was graduated from Abbot Academy last June, will open a small morning school in her home on Bartlett street for young children who are not old enough to enter the first grade of public school. She already has several little boys and girls, and although they will be too young for regular school classes she plans to keep them profitably occupied from nine until twelve.

Douglas A. E. Spark, son of Mrs. Betsey Spark of North Main street, has been discharged from military service for the second time because of physical disability. He went to Camp Devens from Division 21 last year for active military service but was honorably discharged because he failed to pass the physical tests. September 6 he was sent to camp U. S. Troops, Syracuse, N. Y., for limited service, and returned home Tuesday. His brother, James Spark, is in France with the 302d Machine Gun Battalion.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Andrew Burkholm and Leonard Saunders, who were both operated on for appendicitis recently at the Barr Sanatorium in Lawrence, returned to their homes last Sunday.

The U. S. mailbox which has been for many years on the telegraph pole in front of Campion's store, has been moved to a pole in front of F. H. Stacey's drugstore in the square.

Several men who have had furloughs in Andover this week are Privates John Barrett, John McLeish and Camille Boiteau from Camp Devens; Edward Buchan, Douglas Lindsay and Daniel J. Hart.

Anthony Weston Dimock, financier, explorer, steamship owner, and author, whose death occurred at his home in the Catskill Mountains September 14, was graduated from Phillips Academy in the class of 1859.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Batchelor of Buxton court have received notice of the safe arrival overseas of their son William. Private Batchelor left Camp Dix with the 336th Machine Gun Battalion, Company D.

The flags on the public buildings in town have been at half-mast for three days this week in honor of Private Charles A. Young, who died of wounds in France. He is the first soldier who enlisted with America's forces to be killed.

Miss Winnifred LeBoutillier, who was at the Stuart Club in Boston last year while studying at the Museum Art School, was unanimously chosen by the members of the club to be the one to receive a scholarship given by them to pay a year's expenses for living at the club.

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR CLOTHING

Week of September 23-30 the Commission for Relief in Belgium Appeals for Clothing. What to Send and What Not to Send.

What about the accumulation of discarded garments that year by year have been collecting in the attic? They were out of style, so you said you would just put them away in that back attic until some future date when they might easily be made over. You thought that after a change to less familiar suit or dress your old one would seem like new. And yet the time never did come when it was convenient to remodel these old things and so they remain there getting buried under friends that come to keep them company. And you worry lest moths attack them—and maybe they have.

The other drives for clothing may have taken your supply of really old clothes, but this pile in the back attic still unattacked is just what is needed now. The garments need not be in good condition, necessarily, but if they are warm and woollen they can be adapted to keep some Belgian warm. Now is the time to spend profitably a cool day in the attic searching and sorting, and helping the Andover Red Cross in their big drive for clothing for needy Belgians.

The following appeal by the Commission for Relief in Belgium is irresistible and no contribution is too small to help in some way these sacrificed people.

Back of the German wall that has hemmed in Belgium and a part of Northern France, ten million human beings look to us for clothing as well as food. We, who are well clothed, can hardly appreciate in what dire need these people are for lack of necessities. Stocks of clothing and raw material are long since exhausted. There are no imports other than those the Commission for Relief in Belgium has been permitted to make, and these never have been sufficient. The world is now short of both clothing and raw material, so the Commission can no longer purchase what is needed. But you can give it.

Every household in the land has some spare clothing, worn or outgrown, of little use here, but desperately needed by the destitute there. This extract from a letter of a well-to-do lady of Brussels shows the conditions exactly.

"Perhaps you will laugh when you hear that I wear a cloak made from my husband's garde civique

ABBOT ACADEMY OPENING

One Hundred and Twenty-five Enrolled as Boarders

Abbot Academy began the new school year on Thursday with chapel exercises in Abbot Hall. The boarders arrived Tuesday and it was found that three more girls could be placed in the new dormitory, Mrs. Draper's former home. Therefore, the enrollment, instead of being 122, the capacity number originally planned for this year, has been extended to 125. Abbot usually has a waiting list but this fall that list was greater than before, indicating that the school is most successfully growing.

There are thirty-five day scholars enrolled, making a total of one hundred and sixty students.

In addition to the staff of new teachers which was announced last week, there have been added two new assistants—Mademoiselle Alice Deplaces, a native Frenchwoman who will be in the French department, and Miss Marjorie Ashley of New Bedford who will assist Miss McLean. Miss Ashley is a graduate of Smith College in the class of 1913 and of Simmons College in 1918.

As yet no name has been decided on for the new dormitory but the name Draper, will of course be used in the title, for the memory of Mrs. Draper will, for a long time, be felt in that pleasant home.

Soccer Game

A soccer game will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Methuen grounds, Lawrence street, between Fore River of Quincy and the Lawrence and district league. The Fore River team is champion of the state and the picked team from the league beat a picked team of the Boston league last Saturday, so that a hard, fast game will result. Black and Page, former Andover crack players, will be with the Quincy team.

The league team will be composed as follows: F. Hutton, goal; J. Higginbotham and G. Clark, backs; A. Eaton, J. Holt and W. Kelley, halfbacks; T. Kelley, B. Hill, F. Butler, H. Morley and A. Low, forwards.

Fire Insurance Deals With the Waste of the Nation

Here are some figures that should open our eyes. In 1913, the year before the outbreak of the war, the average fire loss for each man, woman and child was as follows:

France	$49	Austria	$25
England	.33	Italy	.25
Germany	.28	Switzerland	.15
	Holland	$11

The members of the Fire Department in a large Canadian city went out on strike, crippling the Department, and leaving the city almost entirely without fire protection. Through advertisements in the newspapers, citizens were warned to take extra precaution and as a result the city was remarkably free from fires during the strike.

The above shows precisely what occurs when wise precaution is exercised.

HOLLIS STREET

May Robson enters her last week at the Hollis Street theatre in "A Little Bit Old-fashioned" on next Monday night, September 23. Crowded houses have been the nightly rule as all Boston and its suburbs have yielded to the charm of the star and her delightful play.

"A Little Bit Old-fashioned" is a melodramatic farce from the pen of Anna Nichols, and the author has contributed a plot of interesting quality.

Though the leading role is that of an old-fashioned woman, the story is snappy and up-to-date, being a refreshing combination of mystery, love and laughter and concerned with people of the smart set, whose elegant apparel and surroundings are used to furnish humorous contrast to the old-fashioned heroine. The management has chosen to tell little of the story, deeming it better to leave the surprises to be discovered when it is seen, but it is related that it is concerned with the wife of a brilliant attorney who has kept pace in worldly affairs, but in the race for fame has left his old-fashioned wife far in the lurch.

It is her unique method of proving how very little externals count in the real issues of life that furnishes the ruling motive of the play, but the disappearance of a beautiful adventuress and the love affairs of a dainty maid all combine to produce sustained interest from the first moments to the last.

Miss Robson invests the role of the old-fashioned heroine with her own personal charm, originality and jovial good-cheer, and under her capable and artistic touch this character is moulded into one of the most noteworthy and satisfying impersonations of the present season.

PARK SQUARE

Hilarious is perhaps the best word approaching fitting definition of the main quality of "Parlor, Bedroom & Bath," the laugh-provoking production that is regaling capacity audiences nightly at the Park Square theatre. This delightful little playhouse has held other farce successes that have been sensational in past seasons, but their records are daily being broken by this new farce, and that Bostonians appreciate the good theatrical fare is manifest in the manner by which they are responding to its appeals. In the matter of leading player this company is thrice fortunate through having such a bubbling fountain of mirth as Florence Moore proves to be in her role of the society-weekly writer.

Every moment of her work on the stage is marked by screams of laughter from the audience, and the actress has made of her work a thing of joy forever. The cast in addition to Miss Moore includes John

Arthur, Grace Fielding, Sidney Shields,

Caroline Lilja, Dorothy Brenner, James

Spotswood, Pel Trenton, Nicholas

Judels and Tommy Meade. Matinees are given on Wednesdays and Saturdays, the Wednesday performance being a popular-price matinee with best seats at $1. Mail orders will be carefully filled.

MODERN

Fred Stone, the foremost comedian in musical comedy, will make his screen debut at the Modern theatre, where throughout the coming week he will be shown in "The Goat". Sensational in his methods, a master of miming, he was predestined to be a motion picture actor who would vie for eminence with the movie bug to the extent that he sets about becoming an actor of the films. The result is a series of the most laughable incidents following with the speed of the motion picture camera. On the same bill will be shown Madge Kennedy, the dainty comedienne of the screen, in her new photoplay, "The Kingdom of Youth." There will also be shown short comedies and the news and war pictures.

TREMONT TEMPLE

There have been many sensational pictures connected with the war since the beginning of the world conflict, but there is no cause for temporizing in announcing that the greatest and most thrilling of all photoplays of the war is "Crashing through to Berlin," which will be shown for the first time next Monday afternoon, September 23, at the Tremont Temple, where a brief engagement of the spectacle will begin on that date. A mighty pictorial history of the war is the simplest definition of what this spectacle is, but words could be exhausted in the description of the wonders revealed in these seven reels of the most colossal drama that human race has lived.

"Crashing through to Berlin" is the amassment of vital events in the war

from the shooting of the Austrian Crown

Prince to the startling deeds of Uncle

Sam's troops upon the battlefields of France. There will be two showings daily, at 2 and 8 p.m. Seats are reserved and may be procured in advance.

SHUBERT-MAJESTIC

Thurston, the famous magician, (Kellar's successor) with new magic, conjuring and colloquy, illusions, and all the similar entertainment connotes will be the attraction at the Majestic theatre for two weeks, starting next Monday,

September 23, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Thurston's expenditures for this season eclipse all other years; his new and startling mysteries, his gorgeous and costly scenery and effects, and the greatly enlarged company, combine to make it the greatest show ever presented by him and the magic surprise of all time. Most of his new features for this year deal with life in the afterworld such as the manifestations of spirits and the materialization of ghosts.

COPLY

For the second week of the third season of the Henry Jewett Players at the Copley theatre, the play will be "The Man Who Went," a romantic war-time drama by W. A. Tremayne. This will be its first production in Boston, but it has been received with great enthusiasm in other cities and there is every reason why Boston theatre-goers should find it no less entertaining.

"The Man Who Went" has been truthfully called a companion piece to

Drafting of Farmers

The War Department, U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Department of Labor have agreed upon a plan to put into deferred classes such persons in the new draft as are necessary in agriculture, in order to maintain the production of food. All persons trained in farming should fill out their questionnaires fully and carefully in order that they will be placed where they are most needed, which for the trained farm help is on the farms. With this in mind, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has appointed George Averill of Andover as Agricultural Advisor to the District Board, and Mr. Averill is anxious to get in touch with all farmers who are in the new draft and are in doubt about their questionnaires. He will keep in touch with the farm help needs of the county and advise the District Board in regard to classification of "necessary agricultural enterprises", all of which are in deferred classes. Owing to a lack of organization of farmers they will find it hard to hold their men unless they make their wants known to the draft boards. Experienced farm help is practically unobtainable at present and a further drain on farm labor would seriously curtail production of food. Farmers should get in touch with Mr. Averill, or the County Agricultural Agent, Hathorne, at once if they are in doubt.

NEWS OF ANDOVER SUBURBS

BALLARDVALE

The local milkmen have increased the price of milk to 15 cents a quart.

Mrs. Nellie L. Smith was the guest Thursday of Rev. and Mrs. Herbert G. Mank of Lawrence.

Mrs. Lizzie S. Barnes and Daniel H. Poor spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Marsh of Dedham.

Another case of scarlet fever has been reported in the village. Fortunately the cases so far have been light ones.

The local Good Templars are arranging a program of special interest for next Monday evening, when they dedicate their service flag in honor of the members of the lodge who have enlisted in the service.

Miss Marjorie E. Davies and Miss Helen N. Davies of Ballardvale are two of the nurses now at Camp Devens base hospital, taking a three years' course. They were teachers at Attleboro before volunteering.

Joseph B. Scott and Eldon Fleury have been appointed associate members of the Legal Advisory Board, Division 21, and will upon request render all possible assistance in connection with the questionnaires.

Hardly an auto passed through the village Sunday, thus showing how conscientiously every request of the government is being carried out. Loyalty and patriotism were never more in evidence in this country than at the present time.

William F. Cronin, one of the popular young men of the village, will leave town Sunday night for Villanova College, Pennsylvania, where he will join the Students Army Training Corps, taking a special government course in electrical engineering.

Grange News

A number of the members of the Woman's Club of the Grange met Thursday afternoon in the hall to sew for the Red Cross.

Twenty-five Andover Grangers visited North Andover Grange Tuesday evening. The evening was taken up with the reading of several letters from Grange members overseas, and a debate between Andover and North Andover Granges: "Resolved, that it is more patriotic to stay on the farm than to leave it to do government work in the mills at the present high wage." Mrs. G. M. Carter, Gertrude Morgan and Ira B. Hill of Andover Grange were the speakers on the affirmative side, and Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Arthur Parham and Mrs. Titus of North Andover were on the negative. Unfortunately Mrs. Titus was unable to be present.

Next Tuesday evening, September 24, the entertainment for the evening will be in charge of the goddesses, Miss Lizzie Doyle, Ceres; Mrs. Nellie Moor, Flora; and Mrs. G. M. Carter, Pomona. There will be a short entertainment and an exhibition of vegetables which will be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Surprise Party

Last Saturday evening at the Guild House Miss Alice Stewart of School street was pleasantly surprised by a number of her young friends. There were about fifty present and on behalf of these Miss Ethel Walker, with a few humorous remarks, gave Miss Stewart a gold pendant. In a few words Miss Stewart thanked the company, after which they proceeded to enjoy themselves. Parlor games, dancing and singing were enjoyed. John McGrath and Robert Winters rendered several solos. Several of the young ladies obliged with piano selections. In a prize waltz Miss Elizabeth Smith and Robert Winters were adjudged the best couple on the floor. Refreshments were plentiful and were served at intervals during the evening.

Those present were: Misses Jean Gillespie, Julia Denahy, Grace Stewart, Sadie McLeish, Jessie Smith, Martha Moore, Annie Vannett, Margaret Henderson, Helen Brennan, Alice Newton, Annie Winters, Ethel Walker, Elizabeth Smith, Jennie McLeish, Alice Stewart, Mildred Early, Christine Black, Jessie Haddon, Elsie Stewart, Mary Keith, Ethel Jacobs, Helen Stewart, Jennie Valentine, Olive Snyder, Gladys Snyder, Martha Campbell; Messrs. Michael Lynch, John McGrath, Arthur Slane, Willis Craik, Robert Winters, James Morton, John Stewart, Andrew Connolly, John Crosby, Arthur Pomeroy, John Lahey, James Sullivan, Joe Arsenault, Edwin Moriarty, Harry Sabar, William Davis, Charles Hughes, Robert Donaldson, Oscar Anderson.

You Have Garden Seed Now—Save It

Some of the garden seed now growing abundantly in your garden will be needed next year when planting time comes. Better save a supply while you can. It is not hard to save seed and quite frequently the home-grown supply is better than any that can be bought from the seedman. Home-grown seeds are suited to local environment, and the vigor and productiveness of the plants from which they are selected can be taken into consideration—which is an important point in selecting home-grown seed. Wait until the seed matures, then dry it thoroughly immediately after it has been harvested, put it in packages well labeled, and store in a dry place where it cannot be destroyed by insects, rats, or mice.

In India there are 278,000,000 illiterates, or 891 to the thousand, while in the United States there are only sixty-five to the thousand.

In Japan only the upper classes could read and write before Western civilization entered. All Africa is black and sullen in ignorance, and, except where enlightened by the missionary, does not so much as know that writing is possible.—Ex.

The man, woman or child who is not a part of the war, in the face of the sacrifices of our boys over there, has no right to enjoy the sacred privileges of America!—no right to call himself an American! He is an alien, if not in name, at least in spirit.

The money which you invest in War-Savings Stamps buys food and supplies for our boys over there, as well as ammunition. The money that you put into War-Savings Stamps represents that much labor, food and supplies, not used by us, but instead turned over to the Army and Navy. Of Local Interest

The Boston Herald of Wednesday comments editorially upon work of a state commission in which Andover readers have an interest through the part played by one of her citizens as chairman.

The exploits of a U-boat off Orleans one Sunday afternoon led to the government's taking over the Cape Cod canal, with its great promise of development into a substantial waterway. The torpedoing of the Mount Vernon a few days ago led to Washington's recognition that had the disaster occurred on this side the sea, there would have been no drydock to which she could have gone for repair. This led to the decision of Secretary Daniels, under the persuasion of Mr. John N. Cole, chairman of the state board of waterways and public lands, to take over our incomplete drydock and put it into readiness for use. More accurately, the secretary will ask Congress for an appropriation to do this, and as the measure will go through with the stamp of the administration as necessary to war effectiveness, there can be no doubt of the passage. Nor will the secretary do things by halves. He intends to ask $3,100,000 for the dock, its actual cost to the commonwealth, and an additional $1,100,000 for the adjoining land for machine shops and the necessary development in order to provide more piers, not only for naval but for commercial shipping, on the coming of peace.

This is a great triumph for Boston. It will give a tremendous impulse to our harbor development. Needless to say the Governor and the council, before whom the bill will go for ratification today, will do their part with enthusiasm. Senators Lodge and Weeks have been working steadily on this enterprise for months, first with one bureau and branch of the government and then with another, until their efforts have won approval. On drydock construction, under war conditions, has fallen to a practical standstill. The United States, moreover, had become the only shipping master, and so the only legitimate patron of such an enterprise. It never rains but it pours. The army engineers—largely "induced" by Senator Weeks and the waterways board—have just recommended the immediate improvement of the Cape Cod canal. They do not think that while the war and the coal shortage last we can wait for general improvement; but they do plan to excavate sidings which will greatly increase the capacity of the waterway. The operation of this canal means that five cargoes of coal can come to Boston for the same expenditure of time and money that it now takes to bring four cargoes here. This is a large margin, particularly in a winter when the coal problem remains highly acute in this corner of the land.

These are great days for the port of Boston. It looks as if it was coming once more into its own. Our congratulations to all who have had a part in bringing this result to pass.

"Redistributing Wealth"

Under the above heading one of the leading Democratic newspapers has the following pertinent comment upon all the inspired publicity trying to show what wonderful savings Secretary McAdoo has made in railroad administration.

If the railroads under private ownership had been allowed to consolidate their administrative organizations, good judges have for years believed enormous savings would be made.

If the railroads had increased fares and rates for freight one-half what the government has, the officials would have been tarred and feathered. The whole story will be a startling one when it is all published.

Mr. McAdoo has lost $200,000,000 of the people's money since he blithely took charge of the railway system of the country to meet what Washington believed to be an exigency incident to the winning of the war.

Back of the "exigency" there was, however, a well-defined socialistic and agrarian sentiment in favor of government ownership of public utilities—a sentiment fostered by years of reckless financing, paper fortune-making and political interference.

This sentiment sincerely believed that a general betterment in transportation would be brought about by omnipotent operation.

It is now becoming clear that the government is much more helpless in dealing with the problem than were the predatory but competing corporations.

To excuse the downfall that has come in spite of 50 per cent advances in fares and 40 per cent increases in freight rates, we are advised that "wealth is being better distributed."

Is it? The $200,000,000 does not begin to measure the nation's loss. Nearly a billion more will be found to have been invested in rolling-stock and improvements which, on the basis of the loss recorded, the properties will be unable to redeem even to the extent of paying interest on new bond issues designed to balance the books.

There can be but one way out in the end: the outright confiscation of the lines because of their inability to pay the debts imposed upon them by government control.

Certainly the railroad corporations will never be able to pick up and carry the load. Nor will the public ever enjoy a return to old rates and conveniences under other conditions.—New York Evening World

Editorial Cinders

The Liberty Loan is bound to be with us for a long time. Perhaps for some time yet in its raising; certainly for some time in its paying, but there isn't a bit of problem in either the raising or the paying if we will measure it by results. The local committee members are getting busy, and evidently the ladies are to have a larger part in this than in previous campaigns. Andover isn't likely to do her part a bit more efficiently than it has been done before, but it will be worth while to have the work of labor apportioned among more people for the good of those who get into the work even if the amount raised is not increased. The next few days are the days of preparation. Figure out how you can do it, then find some way to do a little more than you originally figured.

The local schools are now all under way with the beginning of Abbot this past week. While no complete figures are available it looks as if we had more boys and girls among us as students than ever before. They appear to be a little younger than the average age of some previous groups, but this is to be expected under present conditions. It is going to be a trying time for all those who have the responsibility for education, not only this year but for some time to come. As already said, Andover can help by keeping the environment up to as high a standard as possible. There is a part in this for every one of us to play.

One of the most worthy appeals that will ever come to the people of Andover is contained in the request for old clothing for the Belgians, published in the paper this week. How the attics should be ransacked and the closets unloaded in response to this urgent need! Andover ought to send a good big ton of clothing well adapted to be of great service to these suffering people, and we shouldn't be surprised if the bulk was much larger than even that figure. The call is for early attention; that means just as soon as you have read this request.

Communication

To the Editor of the Townsman.

I wish to ask through your columns by what right or authority we are deprived of our Tuesday afternoon mail. No one whom I have asked personally has been able to inform me, though all share my dissatisfaction, and many like myself have suffered annoyance and inconvenience from it.

That it is not in obedience to a general order or request for a "mailless" twenty-four hours, I have found out, since friends in other towns say it does not prevail there. Owing to the remote location of our Postoffice from the center of business, I could well understand why it might be expedient to send out messengers for the convenience of would-be purchasers, if that were the only place where the War and Thrift Stamps could be obtained. But the banks and other places equally accessible carry them and the faint-hearted or weary-footed need not say it was too far down the hill and up it again, to go for them. I am willing and glad to do and to do without things which are for the good of the Cause, but I have yet to learn in what way this is so, and until I do, if I cannot demand, I shall hope for the speedy return of our Tuesday mail.

Christ Church Notes

The Church School has begun its sessions and every Sunday, now, will assemble at 12 o'clock.

It is expected that Bishop Lawrence will come for Confirmation about the end of November. The definite date has not been set as yet, but it is time to be definitely thinking of the subject.

Private Nicoll Wounded

According to a telegram received by Mrs. George C. Nicoll of Stevens street, her husband was wounded in action. He was born in Dundee, Scotland, twenty-five years ago but has lived in Andover since he was a small boy. Eight months ago he enlisted in the Canadian Forces and went across almost immediately. He has two children. His brother, Private William B. Nicoll, is with the 237th U. S. Infantry and is in France.

Children's War Garden Exhibition

A War Garden Exhibition is to be held tomorrow from 2 to 5 o'clock at the Stowe school. There will be prizes given for the best vegetables, and there will also be vegetables for sale. The money is to go to the Stowe school for a Liberty Bond. You see the Stowe school wants to help Uncle Sam. Be sure to bring a big basket and a lot of money.

SAMUEL BATTLES

An exhibition will be held Saturday at two. Our vegetables and preserves will show what we can do. You can buy almost anything, so bring your baskets there. And buy your Sunday dinner all at our little fair.

WEDDINGS

DEAN—HAYDEN

A wedding notable among those of the early autumn took place last Tuesday evening, at 6 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Hayden, Westland terrace, Haverhill, when their daughter, Miss Mary Adeline Hayden, was married to William Judson Dean of this town.—Rev. Levi M. Powers, D.D., of Gloucester was the officiating clergyman. Mrs. Arthur Baker, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and James Dean, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride was gowned in white georgette with pearl trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

At the dinner immediately following the ceremony fourteen covers were laid. The table was beautiful with a centerpiece of roses, with a rosebud at the place for each gentleman and colonial nosegays for the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean left by automobile for a honeymoon tour, at the conclusion of which they will reside at Pigeon Cove, where Mr. Dean is in the employ of the government. Mr. Dean is the son of J. J. Dean of 8 Locke street, and is a graduate of Phillips Academy, class of 1916.

SHATTUCK—HIBBERT

John Henry Shattuck was married to Miss Florence Hibbert on Wednesday morning in St. Augustine's church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Daniel J. Fogarty. The wedding party, consisting of Miss Lillian Ronan as bridesmaid and Michael O'Dowd as best man, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Annie G. Donovan, organist of St. Augustine's church. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to several of their friends in their newly furnished home at Whittier court.

Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck left that morning for New York City where they will have a short honeymoon. Mr. Shattuck, who is employed at the Rockport Fish Market on Essex street, is well known in Andover and they have the good wishes of many friends.

John H. Clinton of Ballardvale was married to Bessie M. Cullinane on September 16, by Rev. John A. Nugent at St. Augustine's church.

DIED OF WOUNDS

Andover's First Death with the American Army

Private Charles A. Young of Company B, 101st Infantry, died on August 18, as a result of wounds received in action July 23. Private Young enlisted August 3, 1917, in the 101st Regiment and was stationed in Framingham with Company A. He was later transferred to Company B and went overseas very soon after with the 26th Division. Private Young was twenty-three years old and has lived in Andover with his mother, Mrs. William Young, for eleven years, at 73 Essex street. He was employed by the Smith & Dove Co. before his enlistment and was a member of the Grenfell Class of the Free church where he had made many warm friends.

His death came as a great shock to his mother, who received the telegram last Saturday from the War Department, as she had heard only a few days before from a worker in the Y.M.C.A. canteen that her son was cheerfully recovering from a wound in his left hand caused by shrapnel. The letter stated that "he is patient and cheerful in the hospital and doing his bit splendidly." A later letter from the Home Service Committee told that he would be moved to a base hospital soon and that all was going well.

Mrs. Young had just received word a few days before that her nephew, William Young, who was with the British army, had been killed in France, so this news of her son's death, a double and greater sorrow, will bring the deepest sympathy of all to her. Besides his mother, he leaves four sisters: Mrs. Robert Cairnie, Mrs. John Elder, Minnie and Mabel Young; and two brothers, John and William, all of Andover.

Death of Daniel J. Moynihan

The funeral of Daniel J. Moynihan of 115 North Main street was held last Saturday morning at 9.30 o'clock in St. Augustine's church. Rev. D. P. Fogarty celebrated the solemn high mass and he was assisted by Rev. E. A. Shea as deacon and Rev. John A. Nugent as sub-deacon. Rev. F. S. Riordan was within the sanctuary. Miss Catherine Roche sang "De Profundis" and Annie G. Donovan played Chopin's funeral march. The bearers were William C. Crowley, John Sweeney, John McCann, James Minnehan, Daniel Driscoll and Lawrence Hannon. Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery where at the grave a short service was conducted by Rev. D. P. Fogarty, assisted by Rev. F. Riordan.

Mr. Moynihan died last Thursday morning at the Barr Sanatorium in Lawrence after an operation for hernia. He was the assistant manager of the Eastern Steam Laundry in Boston and was forty-four years of age. He leaves a sister, Catherine, who is a teacher in the Lawrence schools, and a brother, William, of New York, as well as a large number of friends in Andover and Lawrence.

GAS MASKS IN ANDOVER

Local Company in National Conference to Solve Problem.

James Gillespie and E. C. Hilton of the Tye Rubber Company have returned from a conference held in Akron, Ohio, under the direction of the B. F. Goodrich Company. This conference was called by the Gas Defense Section of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army, and had representatives from over twelve rubber concerns that have received contracts for the making of gas masks. All these concerns recognize the difficult problem which must be solved with in the production of these masks, the need for perfection in smoothness and in texture of the rubber, and they met to discuss together the best methods to use for the best results. When these masks are finished they will be the most perfect and most modern of any in use at the present day by any army, and our soldiers may be sure that they are absolutely proof against the most deadly of gases.

Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Hilton, besides gaining valuable material for war work, had the pleasure of hearing how other big plants engaged in their kind of business are carrying on their work. The B. F. Goodrich Company entertained the delegates of the conference at luncheon in their cafeteria dining-room and did much toward making this meeting a success.

Small Boys and Horse Chestnuts May Help Win the War.

"This year we saved grain by collecting horse chestnuts, a work that was done by the school children. These are crushed and the oil used for munitions, and it was reckoned we could save tens of thousands of tons of grain by doing this." I quote from "Women and War Work" by Helen Fraser. It has always seemed to me that Nature has shown a great waste in producing those beautiful brown nuts for which no use has been found. And especially in this time of conservation of all our resources does this prodigious waste seem more deplorable, so I read with great interest and satisfaction the above statement. I pass it on as a suggestion. Why may we not add to our saving of peach pits a collection of these other munition makers? If the small boys who now club the trees for them to use for making pipes, as one told me this morning, could only be enlisted in this patriotic service, I am sure we could have a very considerable harvest. Now is the time to gather it.

A Deserter Arrested

Officers Napier and May arrested Edward R. Johnson of Quincy last Saturday at 2.30 a.m., as a suspicious character. He had no registration card with him so later on Saturday he was taken by F. H. Stacey to Georgetown where he was ruled as a willful deserter under the selective draft. An examination by Dr. P. J. Look proved him to be physically fit for service and he is now in jail awaiting the arrival of the federal authorities. He will probably be sent to Camp Upton.

Fourth Liberty Loan Dated Oct. 24

The Liberty Loan Committee of New England announces that the fourth Liberty Loan Bonds, bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest, will be dated October 24. The first coupon will be payable April 15, 1919. Thereafter interest will be 15, 1919. Thereafter interest dates will be October 15 and April 15.

Initial payment of 10 per cent must accompany subscription. Remaining payments are 20 per cent November 21, 20 per cent December 19, 20 per cent January 16, and 30 per cent January 30. Payment in full will be permitted either on application or on October 24. Denominations, maturity and amount of the loan have not yet been determined.

Some Liberty Loan Slogans

Wear your old clothes and buy Liberty Bonds.
Liberty Bonds or German bondage.
"Come across" or the Kaiser will.
The soldier gives; you must lend.
Liberty Bonds or German taxes.
Buy over here to win over there.
It's billions for defense or billions for indemnity.
For Foch and freedom; buy bonds.
A bond slacker is the Kaiser's backer.
A man who won't lend is the Kaiser's friend.
The more bonds you buy the fewer boys will die.
Let's all get on the bond wagon.
Be one of the millions to lend the billions.
Dig up the coin and bury the Hun.
Buy bonds before it's verboten.
Idle dollars are pro-German.
Put the "pay" into patriotism.
Bonds speak louder than words.
If you can't fight, your money can.
Freemen buy bonds; slaves wear them.

Essex Agricultural Society Fair

The 100th anniversary of the Essex Agricultural Society will be celebrated at the annual fair held in Topsfield, October 4 and 5. The exhibits must be reported and in their places by 5 p.m. of October 3, so that during the morning of the fourth, while everything is still in good condition, all judging may be completed. On that afternoon there will be the attraction of an airplane flight and also the demonstration of many modern kinds of farm machinery. On Saturday morning there will be held the annual business meeting, while in the afternoon at 2 o'clock the 100th anniversary will be celebrated with State Guard maneuvers and other events to be announced later. For further information in regard to this celebration apply to Walter H. Brown of West Peabody.

Clan Douglas Fair at Haverhill

Clan Douglas, Order of Scottish Clans, of Haverhill, is making elaborate plans for its ninth annual fair which will open at Liberty Hall, Saturday evening, September 28, and continue the following week.
Special nights have been arranged by the committee, and there will be varied amusements. Tuesday evening, October 1, a Highland Fling exhibition will be given. Wednesday evening there will be a prize dance in which some of the best dancers in this section will participate. Friday evening will be Scotch night when Scotch prize dancing will be a feature. Entrants from Andover and Lawrence are requested to send their names to Chairman John Ritchie, Bradford, Mass., before Thursday, September 26.
The committee of arrangements includes all the members of the clan and the ladies' auxiliary is assisting. The proceeds of the fair will be used for the members of the clan in the service. Short's orchestra will furnish the music during the week.

Rally for Councillor Candidate

A rally in the interest of James F. Ingraham, Republican candidate for councillor for the Fifth district, was held in the square on Tuesday evening with a good attendance of voters present. The speakers were Mayor Donnell of Peabody, James F. Tierney of Salem, and Mr. Ingraham. The speakers for the most part dwelt on the advisability of voting for the latter as he was not tied up with any large corporation or monopoly as was the opposing candidate, Mr. Fraser of Lynn, who is an official of the Lynn Gas and Electric Company.
Mayor Donnell spoke in very flattering terms of the rise of Mr. Ingraham in the leather business and hoped that all voters in Andover would help to nominate him as the next candidate for councillor.

Surgical Dressings

Workers are needed especially on pads and tampons next Wednesday and Thursday at the November Clubhouse. There is sewing to be done on the pads which does not require any previous experience.

AGNES S. STACKPOLE

Prices High in Germany

According to a German paper potatoes in Berlin are sold for 25 cents a pound. They are allowed but one pound per week so each housewife tries to get her allowance early in the week lest she get no potatoes at all. "Secret trading" is therefore booming and no information can be obtained by the police because the buyers are so glad to get any potatoes that they will not reveal the names of the profiteers.
According to another German paper which reports an auction in Schleswig-Holstein, horses are also very expensive. The best animals in the sale brought from $400 to $1750, while those of moderately high quality sold for from $900 to $1300 each. Well-bred two-year-old colts brought from $1200 to $1550.

LOWE — DRUGS

DELIVERIES

W. B. Endicott, Food Administrator, has issued the following letter to the stores concerning deliveries:

Grocers and provision dealers are urged to so arrange their business that teams do not make any unnecessary trips over any one route or to any one section of the city, and that not more than one delivery a day be made to any one family.

Householders are requested not to place orders with their grocer or provision dealer oftener than once a day, and so far as possible to place them the day before delivery is desired.

There is an overburden of deliveries at present on Fridays and Saturdays, and householders can greatly assist in relieving this by having all their non-perishable supplies delivered early in the week.

Householders should not expect more than one delivery a day, and they will perform a patriotic service by patronizing dealers who make no special deliveries.

Board of Legal Advisors

Last Saturday evening the members of the local legal advisory board met in the town hall. The men, with J. Duke Smith as chairman, will aid the 18-45 registrants in filling out their questionnaires and will be in the lower town hall every evening from 7 until 9 o'clock.

Those who will aid the chairman are the following: Franklin H. Stacey, Charles A. Morse, Everett C. Hilton, Arthur W. Hall, Herbert E. Russell, Lewis H. Homer, John Robertson, George A. Christie, Samuel P. Hulme, and F. B. Carlisle.

C. N. Marland, Joseph B. Scott and Eldon E. Fleury, also of the board, will hold sessions in the old schoolhouse, Ballardvale, in order to assist those who registered for the draft in Precinct 2.

Three other members, Prof. C. H. Forbes, C. A. Parmelee, H. M. Poynter and J. C. Graham, of the Phillips Academy faculty, will assist the students who registered for the draft.

These questionnaires, which must be returned to Georgetown within seven days from date of mailing (Sundays excluded), will be sent first to those 19 to 20 and from 32 to 36 and possibly to those 38. There are 101 in Precinct 1 and 8 in Precinct 2 who are in the 19-20 class, while for the 32-36 class in Precinct 1 there are 217 and in Precinct 2 there are 22 men, making a total of 348.

Patriotic Union Service

Sunday was a beautiful day for the open-air service which the Christian Endeavor societies of the South, Free and Baptist churches held at the Missionary Bowlder near Rabbitts Pond. There were over a hundred people gathered to honor the memory of these first missionaries who were students here 108 years ago. Sewall A. Jones of the South church society was the leader of the meeting and short addresses were given by the pastors of the three churches. Rev. Frederick A. Wilson spoke on the work of Samuel J. Mills; Rev. E. H. Prescott on Adoniram Judson; while Rev. E. Victor Bigelow told of Samuel Newell, and then he brought to mind the work of the late Rev. C. C. Carpenter whose enthusiastic efforts had been responsible for the erection of the bowlder and who was to have been the principal speaker at this service which was originally planned for last June.

The program also consisted of responsive reading led by Ernest C. Edmonds of the Free church society, and a patriotic prayer in union. And one of the most inspiring parts of the service was the out-of-door singing led by John Fredrickson as cornetist. They sang "America the Beautiful," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Star-Spangled Banner," and "America."

The Pit and Nut Campaign

Along with the call for peach stones comes the cry for other kinds of seeds, pits and shells. Surely during these fall nutting days the collection may be greatly increased and no amount is too small to contribute to this much needed fund.

The materials to be secured are: Peach pits (seeds), apricot pits, cherry pits, plum pits, prune pits, olive pits, date seeds, Brazil nut shells, walnuts (English or native), hickory nuts, butter nuts, the shells of these nuts.

The campaign will last indefinitely, which is to say, as long as our receipts from other sources (receipts of materials) fail to fill our needs.

The campaign will not be a success unless it reaches practically every household in the country.

COAL SACRIFICE ASKED

Only Two-thirds Order Filled. The Balance May Come Later

Only two shovelfuls of coal may be used this winter where three were thrown into the furnace last year. But the powers that be do not want people to become ill, in their zeal for sacrificing coal to the war industries and advise the laying in of a goodly supply of wood to use on these chilly fall days.

From the office of James J. Storow, Federal Fuel Administrator for New England, comes a statement to all local fuel committee chairmen throughout the state. He reminds them that they have been asked, for the present, to limit deliveries to consumers who have ordered more than six tons, to two-thirds of their orders. If the time should come later when they feel it will be safe to make delivery of the whole or part of the last one-third of the larger order, they should communicate with the Massachusetts Fuel Administration before taking such action.

"The shortest cut to a really big saving of household coal, is to start the furnace fire late this fall and put it out early next spring. This does not mean that it is necessary to live in a cold house and invite an epidemic of pneumonia." He advises the necessity of laying in at once a supply of wood, which, although it may cost more than coal, requires only a few chunks to take the chill from a house. In the furnace, stove, or fireplace wood will burn with good heat, and, during the October, November and May days, will make the house very comfortable.

The thousands of war industries need the coal and householders can help to supply them if they will only buy wood and use it as a substitute. "A three-inch shell that weighs twenty pounds takes eighty pounds of coal and it has been estimated that the French, at the battle of Verdun, hurled enough steel at the Germans to require the consumption of nearly 9,000,000 tons of coal." We must turn over hundreds of thousands of tons of coal to keep our country supplied with shells and armor plate, and not be left as we were last April with no reserve supply.

"Don't wait until next February when your coal bin gets low, but order an extra supply now and be fortified for any kind of a winter," is his advice.

PATRIOTIC FOOD CENTER

Fireless Cooker Demonstration

Many women would like a fireless cooker if they understood how to use it and what it could cook successfully. The Patriotic Food Center has arranged through the Jordan Marsh Company of Boston to have their best demonstrator on the fireless cooker, Mrs. Bartholomew, come to Andover. Mrs. Bartholomew is one of the best demonstrators in the country and has just finished a very successful season in the West. She will be with the Jordan Marsh Company until Christmas time, but they have kindly allowed her to be in Andover next Thursday, September 26, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Food Center on Essex street. The following menu will be cooked: Roast chicken or leg of lamb, potatoes, beets, onions, carrots; raised bread; pie. This meeting is open to all interested and should prove very instructive.

Proportion of Substitutes

The proportion has been changed from "50-50" to "80-20" except in the case of rye flour, of which two pounds must be sold to three pounds of straight wheat flour. That is, the retailer must now sell to the consumer at least one pound of corn meal, corn flour, barley flour, or of the other substitutes allowed at the consumer's option (rice flour, etc.), with each four pounds of straight wheat flour sold; or two pounds of pure rye flour with each three pounds of straight wheat flour sold.

The Food Administration announces the appointment of Mrs. E. B. Cole of South Hamilton as assistant food administrator for Essex County. Mrs. Richard S. Russell, Woman Food Administrator for the county, and Mrs. Cole, will both be located at the Food Centre, 4 North Street, Salem. Mrs. Russell will be at this office two or three days each week, or at any time by appointment.

Food Rules for School Children

1. Begin the day by drinking a glass of water and drink at least six glasses during the day.
2. Do not go to school without breakfast.
3. Eat regularly three meals a day.
4. Eat slowly and chew all food well.
5. Drink milk every day—four glasses are not too much.
6. Eat some breakfast cereal every day.
7. Eat some vegetable besides potato every day.
8. Eat bread and butter every meal; dark breads are best.
9. Eat some fruit every day. Spend the pennies for apples instead of candy.
10. Do not eat candy between meals; eat candy and other sweets only at the end of a regular meal.
11. Do not drink tea or coffee; it does the body no good but does it harm.
12. Do not eat or touch any food without first washing the hands.
13. Do not eat fruit without first washing it.
14. Do not eat with a spoon or fork which has been used by any other person without first washing it.
15. Do not drink from a glass or cup which has been used by another person without washing it.
16. Do not eat from the same dish with any other person.

Message from Mr. Endicott to the People of Massachusetts

Sept. 12, 1918
"I am afraid that the people of this State—and of the whole country as well—are experiencing a feeling of relief concerning the food situation, and that they believe the time has come for a lessening of the strict economy they have been exercising. It is true that we will doubtless have an abundant crop of all save corn, but we must save much more carefully than in the past, even to the point of sacrifice. I will give you the conditions in regard to foodstuffs as they are abroad.

"The Allies must have 28,000,000 tons of food to carry them through the coming year. The other Allies can furnish 10,000,000 tons themselves. America has promised 15,000,000 tons, which still leaves 3,000,000 to come from some source. None of the other Allies can provide this additional amount and it will have to come from the amount that this country has in reserve for her own use. This cannot be released unless we practice as never before, the doctrine of 'the clean plate'." We must do it, we must send this extra 3,000,000 tons and we must save it from our own allotment.

"Besides, we want to lay up a surplus for the lean season, that may come next year or the year after, when we are able to raise but insufficient crops and shall need such a surplus to keep us and our men from dire want. Therefore eat all the perishables possible to save the exportable foods. Save on everything.

"Then there are the millions of people in Belgium, Russia, Roumania, Poland and the other stricken countries, who are absolutely on the verge of starvation. It is impossible to see now how we can furnish any food to them, because of lack of ships, but how can we eat extravagantly and as we desire, when we remember those starving millions.

"The Food Administration may find it necessary to make more stringent rulings in certain directions as the months pass, and to lighten the orders in other lines. This will be governed by the shipping conditions largely, and the American people must hold themselves ready to respond at a moment's notice, in order that nothing shall be wasted, and our reserve held intact.

No Christmas Bundles for Our Boys in France

Along with the statement requesting curtailment of Christmas buying in this country in order to save labor, material and transportation comes the news that we must not send Christmas presents to the boys overseas. This pleasure of giving will be a sacrifice for the majority of people who look forward to that season of the year with such enthusiasm, but their patriotic spirit will be glad to leave every possible transportation chance open for the shipping of munitions and food across. More than 100 carloads of last year's Christmas presents from people at home remained in depots and railroad yards until May, and if gifts were sent to 2,000,000 boys in France there would be all kinds of hindrance and confusion to the regular and necessary traffic.

This year the whole American army is expected to be an American Santa Claus to the French people. There will be many Christmas trees hung with gifts in city parks and churches, while ancient customs and ceremonies will be revived to emphasize the spirit of America in France. The Y.M.C.A. directors are planning all this in the desire to make happy at this Christmas season the refugees from Belgium and other devastated places there.

The greatest Christmas gifts that people at home may send will be their generous contributions to all kinds of relief organizations that provide so liberally for every soldier.

What the Liberty Bond Does

Having bought Liberty Bonds most purchasers would like to know in what particular way the money they have so gladly given is to be expended in the conduct of the great war that has engulfed the world. In response to this silent appeal the War Department of the United States Government has computed the cost of various things and just what bonds of different denominations will do. Five hundred $1000-bonds, for instance, will buy an amount of powder equal to the output for one day of one of the Government powder plants, while one $50-bond will provide one soldier in the American Expeditionary Forces with food for practically four months, or exactly 116 days and a tiny fraction over.

One $1000 bond will provide one 16-inch shell, ready to fire; or smokeless powder enough to propel three 16-inch coast shells and T. N. T. enough to blast 50 three-inch Stokes Mortar shells. Six $100-bonds will provide 10 airplane flares or 50 three-inch shells. One $500-bond will provide two machine guns or 300 steel helmets. Two $100 and one $50-bond will purchase meat cans for two soldier companies, or bacon cans for four soldier companies, or 300 trenching shovels.

Dirty Potato Cellars Waste Much of the Crop

Among the suggestions of the Agricultural Department for cleaning up the potato cellars are the following: Get rid of every bit of vegetable matter in the storage cellar; sweep and brush until it is clean; then give a thorough dose of fungicide, either gas or spray, the quickest and easiest to apply being formaldehyde gas.

For each 1000 cubic feet of gas use 10 ounces of formaldehyde and 5 of potassium permanganate. Pour the formalin over the permanganate in a deep container, and then leave the cellar immediately, because the gas is given off at once.

Should it be found that these chemicals are too expensive, the Department recommends a bordeaux mixture of 5-5-50 strength. It may be applied with hand sprayer, pump or broom; it is effective when thoroughly used and it does not cost much.

It is expecting too much, says the Department, to look for potatoes fit for market from a dirty-ill-ventilated cellar. Time, money, and work spent in growing a crop are wasted if the potatoes are stored where dead potatoes are carrying over the organisms that caused rot. Dry rot attacks newly stored potatoes through bruises and wounds and spreads throughout the stored supply.

Many farmers, it is stated, have cellars that now contain piles of sacks of potatoes, all rotten, sacks and all, and constituting a wet, foul mass that helps to decay the timbers and menaces the crop to be stored.

While there is no way to estimate the loss due to the neglect and uncleanness in potato storages, it is known to amount to a great deal, not only in spoiled human food but in rotten sacks, and in actual money spent in the labor of handling unmarketable material, and in lowered market value of what is left to put on sale. There never was a time, urges the Department, when something to eat was so valuable as now, and when so much effort has been expended in food production. For the same reasons there never was a time when the prevention of this waste was so important.

"Norah," said the literary woman, "I wish you would go down to the library and bring me 'Flavius Josephus.'"

The new girl left the room to execute the commission.

Presently a terrible noise was heard on the stairway, and Norah pushed the door open with her foot a moment later, dragging in by the collar a large and reluctant Newfoundland dog.

"Here he is, Mrs. Dennis," she said, "but ye oughtn't to have sint me f'r 'im. It's a man's job. The baste thrived to bite me, an' I had to fight 'im iv'ry fut o' the way."

Co-operation Between Farmers and Business Men

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Pearson points out in an address that business men and farmers should co-operate in the production of food. Many problems confront the farmer, at this time in the way of producing larger crops, and by a more extended co-operation with the business men, many of the problems could be solved. Secretary Pearson points out some things that the farmers are asked to do, and also suggests some methods of co-operation in which the business man can take the lead.

The situation demands of the farmers of the country four things in particular in reference to production:

1. To maintain and strengthen good methods of farming. This is to assure as large or larger production next year and in later years as may be required.
2. To produce as much as possible of the food and feed needed in the locality where it is to be used. This is to relieve transportation.

3. To produce a surplus of exportable grains. This is for the benefit of the allies.

4. To avoid producing more of perishable products than can be cared for. This is to prevent unnecessary losses.

Your help is needed in several ways. First, There should be an active campaign in every business community to find men employed in stores, offices and manufacturing plants who have been trained in farm work and who can be spared to assist on the farms during the peak of the load. In harvest season in some sections of the country almost every able-bodied man who is not in military service should be on the farm. The additional food that one additional helper may save is an important item to ourselves and the allies.

Second, In some sections the assistance of business men is needed to help the public to see that some increased prices of agricultural products—eggs, for instance—are legitimate. Because of misunderstanding there have been boycotts and much harm has resulted.

Third, Wholesale grocers through their own efforts and their correspondents can accomplish much toward inducing the public to consume food produced at home or near by. It is just as reasonable for canned peas to be shipped both ways across the country as for coal to be so shipped. The cross hauling of food products should be reduced to the lowest possible amount. We are making good progress in eating things produced in the locality, but much more needs to be done along this line. Also farmers need to be encouraged to produce more articles that can be consumed in their locality. This relates particularly to sections which are habitually importing food products that they can raise as well as not.

Fourth, Particularly the public should be encouraged to use food products that are both good and cheap. At the present time this includes dairy products. The dairy industry has suffered severely because of the reduced consumption of milk and milk products. When the dairy industry suffers agriculture suffers, and in the end this means a smaller production of field crops, and, therefore, higher prices for them. Last spring the grocers of this country, under the leadership of President Whitmarsh and Mr. Lichty, gave much assistance in encouraging the larger use of potatoes, which were very abundant and cheap.

Another spring similar action may be needed to help dispose of some other crop, and thus we will save the less perishable products to be stored or exported.

Fifth, With the extension of recognized standards for food products, the whole subject of food production and delivery is being simplified and stabilized. I do not refer to legal standards so much as to commercial standards. The time should come when distributors of food may deal more directly with producers through the aid of established standards and thus eliminate some expensive handling and sorting that seems to be unavoidable at the present time.

Sixth, In the interest of our national development at all times and in the interest of war efficiency just now our agriculture must be well maintained. It should be remembered that the agricultural unit is a small unit. There are six million farms in this country, each an individual unit. It is to the interests of persons who do not live on farms even more than to the interest of those who do live on farms that production shall be kept up. This means that all people, not farmers alone, but those who live in cities as well as the farmers, are interested in experimental and educational activities along agricultural lines as conducted by the Federal Government and the States. These efforts should be liberally supported.

Losses amounting to millions of dollars, which must come indirectly from the pockets of the public, can be greatly reduced oftentimes by trifling expenditures. This thought is sufficiently well recognized by many public men, editors, and statesmen, but it needs to be impressed upon others.

In conclusion I want to say that the work of farmers and the work of wholesale grocers in this war is alike, in that the better it is done the less attention it will attract—there is nothing spectacular about it; we are workers behind the scenes.

And let me say that farmers desire to cooperate with you not only in the ways I have indicated, and which relate to agricultural work, but also in similar ways relating to the welfare of your own industry in so far as this contributes to the national welfare. If there are questions on which they need to be better informed the information should be suitably arranged and given to them through some of the many channels of communication that are available.

We have just read in the newspapers that the King of Austria wrote to the King of Roumania that this is a time when kings should stick together. A true statement. We want them to stick together in all cases where they stand against humanity and justice—and to fall together. We know that their fate rests with our own Nation. If the great principles we now uphold are to endure, we too must stick together—our Army and Navy, wholesale grocers, farmers, laborers, and all loyal groups and individuals, which should include the whole Nation. We must sympathize with each other and help each other and uphold our leaders. Then the years we have enjoyed as an independent people, the tears that have been shed, and the blood that has been spilled shall not have been in vain.

A delegation of local Good Templars paid Brooks lodge of Methuen a visit on Thursday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Riley of Malden were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Helen Marland of Clark road.

Roy Marland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Marland, recently underwent a critical operation in the Lawrence General Hospital.

The local Good Templars will be pleased to learn that Brook lodge of Methuen is organizing a juvenile temple which promises to be one of the very best in the state.

The local Epworth League will hold an "Open-air Festival" this evening on the Methodist church grounds. Games both old and new have been arranged. Ice cream, orangeade and popcorn will be sold. Everyone old and young is heartily invited to be present. A good social evening is guaranteed to everyone who attends.

The local Christian Endeavorers held their first social of the season in the church vestry on Tuesday evening. It was a "Seven Social" and was somewhat new and novel and reflected considerable credit on the social committee who certainly tried their very best to make it a success. There was a good attendance and everybody present spent an enjoyable evening.

Will Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will be held in the church vestry on Wednesday afternoon, September 25, at 3.30 o'clock, for the election of officers for the ensuing year and for any other business that may come before the meeting. A full attendance of members is requested.

Latest Conservation Needs

Sugar (including granulated, lump, brown, and powdered): Not over two pounds per person per month. Make as much corn bread as usual. Use fresh vegetables and fruits.

Use more milk. Make cottage cheese; use locally made butter. Use more fish. Use eggs; keep hens in your backyard and feed them on table scraps. Use supplies produced in your own locality.

Meat.—Economy in the use of both beef and pork is necessary. At present the supply of beef from medium and lighter grades of cattle is large, and light-weight cuts should be eaten by preference in this country.

Flour.—The free use of flour is wrong. Purchase with moderation and use with economy. It may be bought in the ratio of 4 pounds wheat to 1 pound substitutes.

Substitutes.—All householders are expected to use at least 1 part of substitutes to 4 parts of white flour in all flour products. For rye the proportion is at least 2 parts of rye to 3 parts of white flour. Breakfast cereals are not substitutes.

Sugar purchases are limited to two pounds per person per month. Only two pounds of sugar may be bought at a time for household consumption. To secure sugar for canning apply to local Food Administrator. Put up your fruit according to the new rules, making syrups without sugar. Dry fruit instead. If you do buy candy, do not pay more than one pound at a time. Waste, especially in garbage, should be rigidly repressed.

Hoarding.—A n y householder who buys more groceries, etc., than he customarily keeps at home in peace times is guilty of hoarding, and is working to defeat the Food Administration's efforts to secure a just distribution of food and reasonable prices.

overcoat, a waist made from his football shirt, and a skirt made of a dyed bedsheet. Mother had a suit made of the tablecloth, J. and M. have cloaks made of woolen blankets, and S. a dress made of burlap. But all this is only amusing in comparison with the wretchedness of the population. After all, we remain calm and confident of victory.

A recent Brussels advertisement says: "I will give up 125 francs ($25) for new or worn bedsheets." There is an immediate need for every sort of garments, blankets, sheets and shoes.

The very wonderful results of the clothing campaign of last March assisted in helping to meet the demands, but when we realize that there are ten million inhabitants in the occupied regions, most of whom must look to the outside world for protection against the rigors of winter, it is seen that we cannot send too much. As long as the war lasts, Belgium and occupied France must depend chiefly on America for aid. To insure the steady supply of garments which are so much needed, we appeal again to the generosity of the American public to give and give largely.

KIND OF GARMENTS NEEDED

Every kind of garment, for all ages and both sexes, is urgently needed. In addition, piece-goods (light, warm cotton flannel and other kinds of cloth from which to make garments for newborn babies, ticking, sheeting, and blankets, woolen goods of any kind) and shoes of every size are asked for. Scrap leather is needed for repairing footwear.

Since the clothes will be subjected to the hardest kind of wear, only garments made of strong and serviceable materials should be sent. It is useless to offer to any afflicted population garments of flimsy material or gaudy coloring. Make the gifts practical.

Garments need not be in perfect condition. A hundred thousand destitute women in the occupied regions are eager to earn a small livelihood by repairing gift clothing and making new garments adapted to needs with which they are familiar.

Woolen goods of any kind whatsoever are acceptable; soft hats and caps for all ages, and sweaters of any kind and size.

Men's shirts and pajamas, so worn or shrunken as no longer to be serviceable are particularly welcome, since the material can be utilized for making children's garments.

Old Clothes

Garments of flimsy material or gaudy coloring, ball dresses, high-heeled slippers, etc.

Stiff hats, either men's or women's straw, dress or derby.

Anything containing rubber, raincoats, rubber boots, etc. (Note: rubber heels can easily be removed from shoes).

Books, toys, soap, toilet articles.

Notes or communications of any sort or description must positively not be sent.

Articles may be left at the November Clubhouse on Wednesday and Thursday, September 25 and 26, and at the Guild on Friday, September 27, from 10 to 12 a.m., and from 2 to 5 p.m. In addition, the following committee representing the outlying districts, will receive articles any time during the week of September 23 to 30:

Mrs. Frank H. Hardy, West Parish.

Mrs. John H. Playdon, 35 Lowell street, Frye Village.

Mrs. Amos B. Loomer, Ballardvale.

Those unable to send contributions may notify Mrs. Bartlett Hayes and arrangements will be made for collecting them.

The committee in charge of this drive consists of Mrs. F. L. Purdon (formerly Miss Suzanne Smith) as chairman, Mrs. Bartlett Hayes and Mrs. C. D. Thompson.

A Turn of the Wheel

Disclosures of the presence of Americans engaged in building railroads in Italy, says the Omaha Bee, suggests another of the anomalies of war. In days not so very far gone, we have been accustomed to watch "Tony the Wop" tamp the ties and maul the spikes on American railroads. He has constructed the roadbed and laid the rails, and afterwards has manned the handcar and attended to the manifold duties of the humble section-hand. Now he is a soldier, fighting the Kaiser for the preservation of the home land, and the young American is doing for Italy the services that Tony and his kind did for America.—Topeka State Journal.

The Pittsburg Gazette-Times has an article on the alleged loss of revenue to the federal government by the stoppage of beer-brewing, and fears it will be necessary to balance the defect by taxing domestic breakfast beverages, because the Democratic party now in the saddle cannot keep up their accounts with the loss of revenue from their low tariff.

He claims the war conditions in 1914 saved us from debt by a "narrow squeak." All this is a little like Greek to me, of course, but I do see his point when he says beer drinking has diverted an enormous sum from the channels of respectable commerce and deprived beer-drinkers and their families of comforts that "booze" money would have bought.

So if all hands dropped the waste on beer, we could afford to pay a small tariff on tea and coffee, cocoa, etc., and not mind. The year 1918-1919 is going to be a rare chance to prove a lot about beer revenue and high tariff.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Lester Hilton of the central fire station has returned to his work after an annual vacation of two weeks.

Mrs. Frank H. Paige of Salem street received several blue ribbons for her horses at horse shows this summer.

A meeting of the members of the Abbott Village Coal Society will be held in Abbott Village hall next Friday evening, September 27, at 8 o'clock.

At the regular meeting of the Boy Scouts held at the Guild Wednesday night, the boys were entertained by Douglas Crawford, who read to them a variety of selections.

The Free church foreign missionary department cordially invites the ladies of the church to attend its rally meeting to be held at the parsonage next Thursday afternoon, September 26, at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Charles S. Mills, who will preach at the chapel Sunday, is remembered by many friends in Andover, as his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Mills, and his sister, Miss Mary B. Mills, lived for many years on Central street.

Miss Lucy Burrill, one of the residents at the Home for the Aged, reached her ninetieth birthday September 12. The day was made pleasant by numerous cards, little gifts, flowers and calls from several of her friends.

The children of the Stowe school are to have a sale of vegetables from their war gardens tomorrow. They have taken full charge of the affair themselves and their notices will be found in another column.

The Junior Endeavor Society of the South church is planning for a social with singing of popular and patriotic songs on Tuesday, September 24. Miss Mabel Marshall and Frank L. Brigham will lead in the singing of these songs.

Mrs. Frank L. Purdon is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. B. F. Smith, on Central street. Major Purdon has been at a staff college in France for six months and Mrs. Purdon is planning to be with her mother until his return.

At the wedding of Lucy Dunham Ford and George Albert Parks in Malden, September 14, the maid of honor was Miss Edna W. Simmons of the Punched High School faculty, a Boston University classmate of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, who left here about three weeks ago to return by automobile to their home in Los Angeles, Cal., found that their son, Kenneth, had been taken in military service and was at Camp Holbrook in Arizona. They were obliged to travel by rail from Kansas City because of heavy rains.

Mrs. Everett Lundgren, president of the Woman's Club of the Andover Grange, wishes the members of the club to meet next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Grange hall, to finish the Red Cross work which was started yesterday. Every member is requested to be present, to bring her supper and to remain to the meeting in the evening.

Gardner C. Abbott, son of Louis G. Abbott of 1778 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, died September 12 at the Chelsea Naval Hospital, of pneumonia. He was signal man on the U. S. coast patrol steamer Wachusett, enlisted April 16, 1917. Can anyone place this family for Abbott records? C. H. A.

In the September 14 issue of the Transcript, on one page is the greeting sent by Pershing to "the splendid army of Boy Scouts" and appreciation for all they are doing for the great cause—good citizens, good soldiers in the making, and the old boys now at the front are ready to shake hands with our juvenile Home Guard. On another page is the tale of the German captives of St. Mihiel—men of six feet in tears and lads of fourteen scared out of their wits. I have wondered what kind of a soldier one of those loafers along the library front will make. Sit up, boys! Get busy, stop nagging the police, and fit up for civil service and follow the example of our girls.

Liberty Bonds Special Notice

It has been repeatedly brought to our attention that for one reason or another subscribers in small amounts to Liberty Bonds, have been approached and in many instances prevailed upon to sell their bonds or more often exchange them for other securities. Generally the "other securities" are of a most questionable nature.

Now what I would say to all holders of Liberty Bonds, and this will apply to the forthcoming loan as well, there is no better security in the World. I don't care what the bonds will sell at temporarily, they will be redeemed at maturity by the Government at par. sell better than at par. If they are not good, then nothing we have in this country is any good. They are good; in fact, as I have clearly said, they are the best security in the World.

Now to the holder who is approached to swap them for other securities. Don't do it. If you really need money and have got to sell your bonds, go to any bank, trust company, or recognized banker or broker, and they will arrange that you will obtain what you are fully entitled to obtain in the disposition of your bonds. Keep away from the money sharks and all of the so-called rich-quick security dealers. If you must part with your bonds, part with them for cash only.

THE JOB NEXT TUESDAY

Mr. Ham will probably get a good-sized vote in the state and he has friends in Andover, many of whom even though they would like to vote for him will still believe that the long experience in public service where he has filled positions in a most creditable manner justify the choice of his opponent.

The local issue between the two candidates for the Governor's Council ought to be all in favor of the man whom the town has already given hearty support to. As already stated in this paper, Mr. Ingraham has many friends in town, and he has already tested the vote of Andover with a loyal support bound to make the nucleus of equally hearty approval at the coming primary. Nothing can be said against his opponent, and nothing can be said for his opponent that cannot be said in favor of Mr. Ingraham. Since Mr. Ingraham's last contest he has still further linked himself to Andover through a son who made a most creditable record as a student at Phillips; also since that time Mr. Ingraham himself has been active in the business life and the patriotic life of his home city and the neighborhood there, in a way that shows that he is the type of man well equipped to serve in any position to which he may be called.

The local contest with relation to the nomination for a Republican candidate for senator will undoubtedly give to Representative Gleason a majority of Andover votes. The same situation does not appear to be promised in other sections of the district and unless all signs fail Mr. Teller will be the nominee to succeed himself, as Methuen and Lawrence are the dominant factors in the senatorial district.

For representative there should be no question about the selection of former Representative Peter Holt of North Andover. Mr. Holt has had a year in service and many of his friends believe that that service entitles him to another nomination. His opponent is not well known, but that which is known of him would not for a moment justify any material support from a town like Andover.

No one can tell how the town will go on the Democratic nomination for Governor, but it is likely to be fairly evenly divided between the three aspirants. As some one has well said, whoever is nominated, he will appear before the voters as "a piece of pretty badly damaged goods," owing to the way in which each of the candidates has assailed his other two opponents.

Remember that the primary comes next Tuesday and that while there is no call for agitation over politics there is just as loud or even louder call than ever for the doing of a political duty such as a vote at the primary is.

Moore, the chairman of Andover's campaign committee, show that out of the 354 cities and towns in this state Andover stands thirty-third on the list in the per capita rating. Fifty-four per cent or 519 of our school children own stamps to the amount of $2735.93. There are two schools with 100 per cent holding stamps, Milton and Northbridge; Lawrence's per cent is 39, North Andover's is 39 and Methuen's 42 per cent. The average in Massachusetts schools is 41 per cent, so that Andover, well over that, is among the first in the state.

With the chance to get even nearer the head of the list Andover's boys and girls will undoubtedly find many openings to continue their filling of cards and, in helping Uncle Sam, put by something toward the future.
